

Roxana Rivero, is a peruvian artist and entrepreneur. She is graduated by Corriente Alterna, School of Art, creator of “Integral Art Peru” and in charge of its management.

Her artistic training is inspired in anthropological, social and cultural research. Each collection, she developed captures her technique, talent and sensitivity with natural materials and the ecology.

Currently the artist is dabbled in academics, teaching classes to design new generations of designers in various schools dedicated to the art and design as the current Alternative School and the Association of Women Entrepreneurs (Amep, Meld, etc).

Also it trains goldsmiths and artisans in social programs, in the highlands of Peru because it is very important for her to take responsibility in this field and also on respect for the environment, for it interacts with the individual in general accepting new challenges with the environment and society, concern goes beyond beautify their jobs.

In their eagerness to preserve the world promotes and applies the recycling of elements used in various pieces of jewelry and other antiques transforming now tastefully modern jewelry and contemporary.

In their new collections, the designer dares to mix styles and innovation in materials that years ago seemed irreconcilable.

The colors of the stones, seeds, wool and other precious materials, represent the natural wealth of the Andes and are source of inspiration and respect. Her work concerns climate changes in the world.